

DESPERATE FRAY BRINGS NO GAIN OF IMPORTANCE

From North Sea To Argonne the Battles Raged With Each Side Claiming the Advantages of the Pitched Battles Engaged In

BRITISH GAIN POINT OF MAIN OBJECTIVE

Berlin Announces Annihilation of One French Force Which Penetrated Their Positions in the Champagne Close To Mesnil

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, October 3.—There has been desperate fighting without a break along the western line, from Flanders to the Argonne, with comparatively small gains for the Allies, which reported gains are emphatically denied from Berlin.

Sir John French, reporting on the day's engagements south of Loos, announces that the British have captured the two trenches which remained in German hands southwest of Fosse, which completes the work which the offensive begun a week ago was planned to accomplish. The trenches were captured after a desperate struggle, the Germans having reinforced their front heavily at this point.

Control Important Road

The main road from Lens to La Bassée is now straddled by the British and the use of it lost to the Germans. The fighting was for the possession of this important line of communication, over which the Germans transported the greater part of their supplies for this front, just as the object of the main French offensive is to seize the railroad triangle at Massignies for the embarrassment of the German lines in the Argonne.

The French claim to have advanced somewhat in the offensive against the Massignies railroads and to have made a further progress in the Artois region in the west, gaining some sections of the heights between Souchez and Vimy. The German artillery at this point inflicted heavy losses upon the French, but failed to hold them back. Last night the Paris war office officially announced that the heights of Lafolie had been taken. Berlin Contradicts

In the advance in the Champagne the Paris reports state that the French have driven an important salient into the German lines north of Mesnil, engaging in hand to hand fighting and taking a number of machine guns and prisoners. The Berlin despatches contradict this. They agree that one French force penetrated the German lines in the Champagne but announce that it was annihilated, the few survivors surrendering.

Paris reports that there has been heavy artillery fighting north of Berry au Bac, then Germans making use of asphyxiating shells, while along the Flemish lines there has been constant artillery duels, the French heavy batteries bombarding the German positions at Westende, while British monitors shelled the Germans from the sea.

Belgians Are Bombarded

Before Dixmude the Belgian lines were subjected to a torrent of German shells, one sector of the Belgian trenches receiving four hundred bombs during the day. The Germans made no attempt to follow up this bombardment with any infantry attacks.

The French aero fleet was particularly busy in advance of the French lines advancing in the Champagne and the railroad station at Vouvières and the aviation grounds at Challerange, adjacent to the railroad triangle, were bombarded incessantly, sixty aeroplanes taking part in the attack.

Cut Trooptrain In Two
The aeroplanists ranged up and down the railroad lines and succeeded in wrecking a troop train, one bomb cutting the train in two. In the general bombardment the aero fighters claim to have made three hundred hits.

AUSTRIANS HIT RUSSIANS HARD

Advance Upon Lemberg Broken Up With von Linsingen In Hot Pursuit of Slavs

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
BERLIN, October 3.—Report from the eastern front announce that the Russian offensive west of Tarnopol, where the Slavs were attempting to force their way back to Lemberg, has failed, with heavy losses for the Russians. The Austrians state that they have not only checked the Russian advance but have broken it up, taking prisoners.

General von Linsingen, in his official report, states that he has taken twenty-four hundred prisoners and is now driving the retreating Russians northward, after having successfully stormed Czernysz and Korwin.

Von Hindenburg announces that there have been few material changes in the north, but that the Germans are gaining ground at a number of points and wearing down the Russian resistance. An attack made in force upon the positions held by King Leopold has been driven back by the Bavarians, who captured a number of prisoners.

BRITISH SUCCESS AID TO NAVAL PLANS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, October 2.—It is learned here that the naval policy of the United States may be greatly affected by the confidential reports of the British admiralty which have been earned by American naval experts. These reports show that the British navy is developing means of combating the submarine attacks by means of steel nets and rapid fire motor boats. The reports show that approximately seventy-five German submarines have been thus captured.

Expert opinion here is that the dreadnought is still the most effective type of warship, though numerous submarines are planned for the American navy of the future.

DOC. COOK WILL HAVE ADVENTURES NONE WILL DENY

No Chance Now To Reopen Canal Before the Tenth—Delay May Be Longer

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
SAN FRANCISCO, October 3.—Explorers Dr. Cook of North Pole fame, who went to India with the avowed purpose of climbing to the top of Mount Everest, is languishing in a British jail in Rangoon, Burma, on a charge of being a German spy. This is the story which has been brought here by Furlis Allen, an American, who himself had plenty of experience with the Indian secret service men. Being caught in India without a passport, Allen had the greatest difficulty in moving around, being thrown into prison seven times in eleven months.

Doctor Cook has had his moving picture outfit, with which he intended to establish the truth of whatever claims he should make in regard to his Mount Everest expedition, taken away from him and confiscated. The British authorities decline to accept the word of the discoverer of the North Pole concerning anything.

PLAN TO RESCUE ARMENIANS NOW MAKING PROGRESS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, October 3.—The efforts being made by Ambassador Morgenthau to secure official sanction to a plan to transport the remnants of the Armenian people to the United States, to enable them to survive, and to devise ways and means whereby at least two to three hundred thousand of this persecuted race may be transported to a new land, is making progress. Yesterday it was announced that the Turkish government has agreed to permit the migration of as many Armenians as Ambassador Morgenthau can secure transportation for, provided these emigrants become naturalized Americans.

Since April it is estimated that at least half a million Armenians have perished from massacres, starvation and disease. So acute is the distress that the American ambassador felt obliged to interfere and to offer his good services in transporting the entire Armenian people to America. The ambassador cabled to Washington asking that five prominent Americans be appointed on a commission to raise a million dollars for the first part of the big plan.

The surviving Armenians are principally old people and children. The men have been slain and the young women subjected to a worse fate.

Mr. Abrams is charged with having converted to his own use and benefit a $1000 Kanai Railway Company bond said to be the property of Mrs. Coriella C. H. Adams.

It has been publicly stated, further, that Mr. Abrams' accounts at the Hawaiian Trust Company, of which he is secretary and member of the board of directors, show a shortage of $25,500. Other than the present, no further criminal charge has been registered against the defendant.

PANAMA SLIDES KEEP A-COMING

No Chance Now To Reopen Canal Before the Tenth—Delay May Be Longer

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, October 3.—Disappointing in the extreme are the efforts of the Panama Canal engineers to clear the waterway to traffic, according to an announcement made last night from the head office of the Panama Railroad here.

This announcement states that fresh slides are constantly coming down in the Gold Hill section and that it is now announced that there is no prospect of removing even the earth already in the channel before the tenth of the month, while any slides in the near future will make the canal block just that much longer.

There are now in the neighborhood of seventy steamers at anchor waiting for the opening of the transoceanic channel, and the prospects are that there will be one hundred and twenty-five or more when the slides are finally overcome.

EXPERT TO SAY WHAT HIT THE HESPERIAN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, October 3.—The American embassy in London cables that it is despatching a number of pieces of steel alleged to have been picked up upon the deck of the steamer Hesperian, in order that the state department may submit them to munition experts to determine whether they are from a torpedo, as claimed by the British authorities, or from a mine, as claimed by the Germans.

The Hesperian was torpedoed at a time when the Germans were announcing here that there would be no further attacks upon merchantmen without warning sufficient for the passengers and crew of an attacked ship to take to their small boats.

Affidavits have been filed by a British captain that the submarine which torpedoed the Hesperian attacked his ship when he was attempting to approach to give assistance. He escaped, he stated, only by dodging the submarine and running at full speed.

This conviction, Judge Ashford pointed out, was the first secured in a case where death has resulted from heedless handling of automobiles by drunk chauffeurs. That Nakai was drunk when a passenger in his machine was killed, in a collision with an army auto truck in Kalihi some months ago, was brought out in the testimony.

Now Reported That Austria Has Already Despatched One To Bucharest

HOSTILITIES NEAR

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

Yesterday, in a formal statement to the Associated Press, Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, stated that Bulgaria's attitude was extremely offensive to Russia and that if that state persisted in its present traitorous course in refusing to answer the Russian demands for the reasons leading to the present mobilization, Russia would present an ultimatum to Sofia.

Lau Wah Given Surprise Party By His Friends

Marshal Smiddy and Deputies Catch Federal Official 'Hitting the Pipe'

It is seldom that a federal judiciary department official is given a surprise party by his co-workers. One of these rare occasions came about, however, yesterday when Lau Wah, the versatile and esteemed messenger and janitor of the federal court, was treated to a particularly surprising "surprise party" by Marshal Smiddy and his deputies, Albert E. Harris and O. P. Hille.

Yesterday afternoon Marshal Smiddy received from Commissioner Curry a warrant to serve on one Ah-On Leong. He also received information that the man wanted could be located in a shack back of the Anah theater in Maunakea street. Thence proceeded the officials, armed with the all-powerful warrant. The door of the shack was found closed and locked. A knock brought no response, although shouting, as of feet, was heard inside. Three shoulders applied to the door made an immediate opening and Smiddy & Company entered.

Seated on a bunk inside the room was Lau Wah, quietly and serenely "hitting the pipe." Three other Chinese were keeping him company. "What are you doing here?" Smiddy asked Lau On.

"Oh, nothing," coolly replied the federal court messenger and janitor, "just having a little party and enjoying myself, can't you see?"

"Yes, I can see," the marshal retorted.

Lau Wah was searched. In a hip pocket the marshal found a small horn of opium. Lau Wah was placed under arrest on a charge of having opium in possession and sent down to High Sheriff Jarrett's rear den. Later in the afternoon Lau Wah waived a preliminary examination and was bound over to answer before the regular federal grand jury. He was released on his own recognizance.

Ah-On Leong, the regular tenant of the joint, was not in when the surprise party was sprung and up to a late hour last night the federal officials had been unable to find him. Leong probably heard of Lau Wah's surprise party and, being modest, is keeping away from a similar fate.
